After serving our Nation, Walt worked for Montgomery Wards and then for many years as an independent contractor for several area banks. Walt enjoyed reading, playing cards, spending time with his family and fine cigars. He also enjoyed chess games with his son, Walter and traveling with his beloved wife, Barbara.

Especially dear to him were visits from his daughters, Sheri and Diana. And he was always happy to see his daughter-in-law, Joelle and his three beautiful granddaughters, Clarisse, Camille, and Christiane.
